FLOODPLAIN

On 2-4-15, FEMA's new Floodplain Insurance Rate Maps (FIRM) will go into effect. With the new maps comes changes to which properties are in the 100 year Floodplain (AE Zone). Please review the insert in this issue of the City News and see if your property will be in the Floodplain as of 2-4-15. If your property is not listed, your property is not in the AE Zone. Delaware City is a member of the Community Rating System (CRS), and we receive a 10% decrease for those who purchase flood insurance. If your property is located in the AE Zone it is highly recommended that you purchase flood insurance. However, all of Delaware City is at risk of flooding. Statistics show that a lot of flood insurance claims come from people that live out of the Floodplain. You can visit <http://maps.riskmap3.com/DE/NewCastle/> and put your address in the address locator to see how close your property is to the AE Zone. www.fema.com is also a good resource for information. We also have the FIRMs on our website www.delawarecity.delaware.gov. Town Hall and the library have literature and brochures to help you keep your property safe. Another change for those who live in the AE Zone is building requirements. Please review Chapter 48 of the City Code which has been revised per FEMA requirements. Any questions, please contact Town Hall 834-4573.
